"Self Portrait"

This is a simple self portrait I made one afternoon in 2015. This one in particular happens to be the only pencil and paper drawing I happen to have on me, unfortunately. I find shading to be much simpler with the good old physical tools than digital ones, but hey, I bet I'll change my mind once I get the hang of it. The methods are simple, just texturize a bit with the pencil and blend it with my finger.